

Daisy's Mite Report 2007

This charity was set up in 1991 after the publication of a book "Our knickers were interesting". It contained memories of Swanton Morley resident Daisy Rayner that had been collected by Dr. Susan Palmer.

Each year awards are made to young people from the village that are in further education to help with their studies. This is done by using the interest earned from the original book sales.

Our charity in 2006 was happy to recognise the efforts of:
Georganna Sell and Emma Hall; they have received £65 each.

Nominations for 2007 awards are being collected; these will be discussed at the charity's AGM in the next few weeks.

Anyone wishing to nominate a person for an award in 2008 may do so by contacting any of the trustees at the beginning of the New Year.

The Trustees are:

Tim Harris – Chairman
David Richardson – Secretary
Mike Johnson – Treasurer
Richenda Wilkinson
Joyce Cook

We look forward to announcing the award winners.

Tim Harris
(Chairman Daisy's Mite)
